Five years ago, my ex-wife started planning our divorce. She hired the best law firm in Bryan/College Station and started working with trust/divorce lawyers to lock up the finances. Last summer while we were on vacation she made her move, bought a secret house, moved out and filed for divorce. I was served the papers while I was mowing our front yard. She wanted to keep all the money for herself and did not agree with Texas law. I was caught flat footed and she had a big head start.

I was extremely fortunate to have someone recommend Tyler Moore to me. One phone call and he immediately took over and rescued me from anxiety/confusion to complete control. He has a very easy going personality with his clients, and a huge wealth of experience and knowledge in family law. He never pressured me to go in any direction, and was extremely patient. My divorce took a year to finalize, initially with counseling, and then moving through the process of divorce itself. Tyler can be extremely intimidating when necessary, or laid back and easy going, it just depends on what is needed. He knows the law inside and out and puts his client's needs first. He promptly returned all my emails and phone calls, and his billing was very fair. He did not charge me for a lot of little messages like other lawyers do. I honestly feel that I got a great deal working with him.

My wife and her law firm were familiar with Tyler's reputation and quickly agreed to a very fair and just settlement once they realized that Tyler was handling my case. His reputation made all the difference. I have heard many people complain about their divorce lawyers, I have absolutely no complaints about Tyler Moore. His contact information is permanently stored in my phone. I would highly recommend Tyler to anyone that needs legal help in the area of family or civil law.
